The WCB appeal process for employers

As an employer, you have the right to appeal a decision made on your worker's injury claim that may affect you as an employer or a decision on your employer account. These are the two aspects to an employer appeal.

Appeals department process:

- . The appeals department will send you a letter with the expected wait time for a decision once your appeal is registered.
- Your appeal will be assigned to an appeals officer. As part of their review, they may require additional information, which could include further investigation, phone calls and meetings.
- . The appeals officer will research relevant legislation, policy, weigh evidence and determine a decision on your appeal.

Appealing an injury claim decision

There are three steps to the appeal process that must be completed. A decision must be made at each step before you can move on to the next step.

Step 1: Initial review

If you have questions or disagree with a decision, contact the staff member who made the initial decision on the injured worker's claim. They will be able to explain the decision and answer your questions.

If you have new information that could affect the decision, let them know. They may reconsider the decision.

All appeals (steps 2 and 3) must be in writing and include:

- the worker's name .
- . the WCB claim number
- the decision you are questioning (including date and decision maker) .
- why you disagree with the decision .
- how you think the decision should be resolved .
- any other information to support your position

Step 2: Appeals department

If you have completed step 1 and disagree with the decision made, you can appeal to the appeals department, which is independent of operations.

Send your appeal by email, file it online or send it in writing addressed to the appeals department.

Email: appeals@wcbsask.com Online: wcbsask.com/workers/worker-appeals Mail: 200-1881 Scarth St., Regina, SK S4P 4L1

Step 3: Board Appeal Tribunal

If you have completed step 2 and disagree with the decision of the appeals department, you can appeal to the Board Appeal Tribunal. This is the final level of appeal.

Send your appeal by email, file it online or send it in writing addressed to the Board Appeal Tribunal.

Additional forms

To appoint someone to represent you, send an Authorization Letter of Representation (EREP) form to us.

To get copies of the information from your worker's claim file, you must send an Employer's Request for Photocopy of Relevant Records in File(s) (EROI). If you are an employer representative, a Employer Representative's Request for Copy of Relevant Records in File(s) (ERO2) form is required.

You can find these forms on our website at wcbsask.com/documents-listing
